Governor Sisolak announces that all Nevada school districts will remain in a Distance Learning format for the remainder of the 2019-2020 School Year.

What does that mean for our students and staff in ChurchillCSD?

We will continue our Learning from a Distance model. The good news is that we are getting better at providing good opportunities for kids in this way. We just learned about this tonight at the Governor's press conference, so we will meet virtually with all of the building leaders and various staff once we have some additional direction from the Nevada Department of Education.

We will continue to provide meals as that is a very high priority for us!

We will ensure that we get families additional information in the next few days as we finalize details on information that you need. We have many pieces in place for kids to keep accessing work over the next few weeks and more support will be on the way.

This is a time that is very difficult for our kids--please know that we have staff who can help and be there to talk or support them--please reach out to your children's teachers or principals.

In the meantime, please hug your kids, know that we appreciate all that you are doing, and know that we will keep working hard for your kids!
