Announcement of Nevada Hero of the Day, April 22, 2020

Ashley and Colby Frey, of Frey Ranch Distillery in Fallon, have donated and distributed gallons of distillery-made hand sanitizer to local first responders at Banner Churchill Community Hospital, Hawthorne Army Depot and the Nevada Trucking Association. Colby Frey is a lifelong citizen of Fallon, also known as the Oasis of Nevada. When asked why he made the donations, Colby said: "We've always been able to count on our fire department and our local hospital in times of need — now it's our turn to return the favor." Frey Ranch Distillery is one of several distilleries in the state stepping up to change production efforts to aid our first responders in the fight against COVID-19. Thank you, Ashley and Colby Frey, for your dedication to the Churchill County community.

During challenging times, it's important to recognize the good we see. Every day, heroes among us are taking care of their neighbors, showing up to work at their essential jobs, working on the front line, saving lives, or just staying home for Nevada. Thank them when you see them. Nominate your hero by sending their name, photo and a brief description to NevadaHero@gmail.com. Heroes will be highlighted on the Nevada Health Response Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram accounts.
