Celebrating Earth Day for 53 Years!

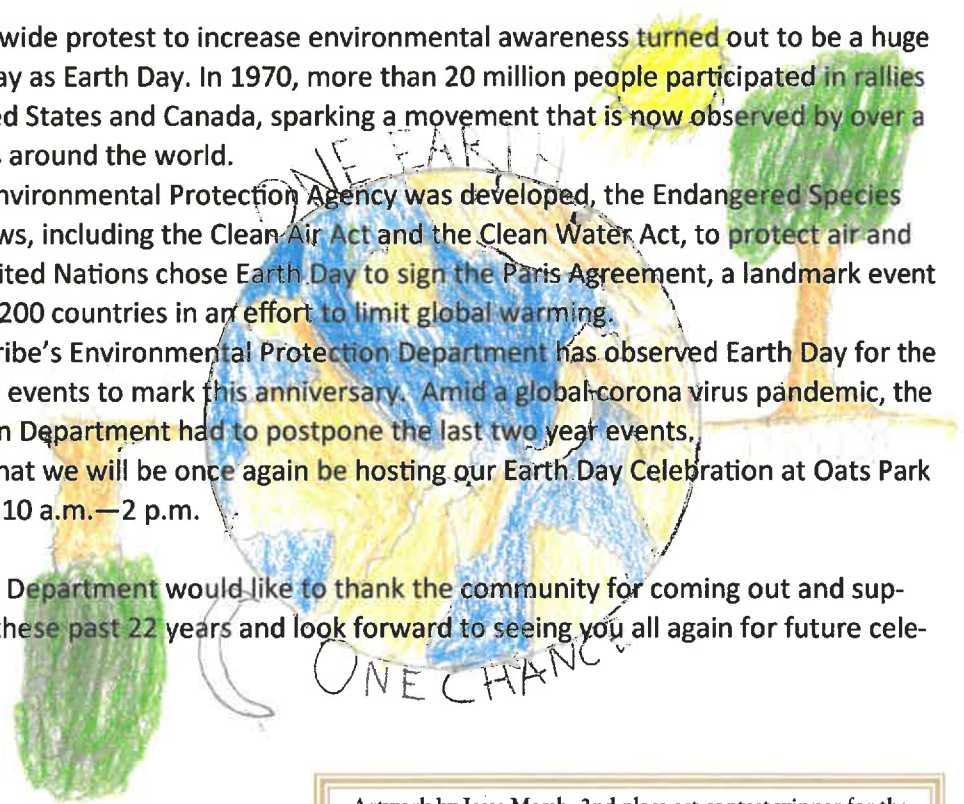

Fifty-three years ago, a nationwide protest to increase environmental awareness turned out to be a huge success that is still known today as Earth Day. In 1970, more than 20 million people participated in rallies and teach-ins across the United States and Canada, sparking a movement that is now observed by over a billion people in 193 countries around the world.

As a result of Earth Day, the Environmental Protection Agency was developed, the Endangered Species Act, as well as other critical laws, including the Clean Air Act and the Clean Water Act, to protect air and water quality. In 2016, the United Nations chose Earth Day to sign the Paris Agreement, a landmark event that brought together almost 200 countries in an effort to limit global warming.

The Fallon Paiute-Shoshone Tribe’s Environmental Protection Department has observed Earth Day for the past 23 years with community events to mark this anniversary. Amid a global-corona virus pandemic, the FPST Environmental Protection Department had to postpone the last two year events.

We are excited to announce that we will be once again be hosting our Earth Day Celebration at Oats Park on Saturday, April 22nd, from 10 a.m.—2 p.m.

The Environmental Protection Department would like to thank the community for coming out and supporting our Earth Day events these past 22 years and look forward to seeing you all again for future celebrations.

Happy Earth Day!

Every year on April 22, Earth Day marks the anniversary of the birth of the modern environmental movement in 1970. Earth Day 1970 gave a voice to public consciousness about the state of the environment and our planet. Until this point, mainstream America remained largely oblivious to environmental concerns and how a polluted environment threatens human health.

Today, the fight for a clean environment continues with increasing urgency, as the ravages of climate change become more and more apparent every day. As the awareness of our climate crisis grows, so does civil society mobilization across the globe today.

Movie Night: WINDTALKERS

WHEN: Thursday, April 27, 2023
Movie Starts at 6:00 p.m.

WHERE: Fox Peak Cinema

Join us for a free movie at Fox Peak Cinema! A powerful, true story about members of the Navajo tribe who proudly served the U.S. in WWII as code talkers by using their native language as a code to relay information to military leaders. Unbeknownst to the Navajo is the dark secret that they're to be killed by American soldiers if one of them is in danger of being captured.

Rating: R (action, drama and war)

Pick up your free movie pass wristband today at FPST Environmental Dept. @ 1011 Rio Vista Dr. or the Tribal Admin building @ 565 Rio Vista Dr. Passes will also be available 15 minutes before show time at Fox Peak Cinema.

Fox Peak Cinema is generously donating 30 small popcorn/soda combos to the first 30 people to show up at the cinema for Earth Day Movie Night thank you Fox Peak!
